What is The Valley like?

The opening of the North Stand during the early 2000s has completely transformed the look of The Valley, with the derelict old ground from several years ago now a distant memory.

Up to 3,000 away fans are housed opposite in the Jimmy Seed (South) Stand behind the goal where, due to it being slightly raised above pitch level, they can enjoy a generally good view of the action.

Food on offer includes a range of pies, while there are also separate hot dog stalls.

Directions

Leaving the M25 at Junction 2, follow the A2 towards London before merging onto the A102 towards the Blackwall Tunnel.

Thereon, leave the A102 on the next slip road for the A206 (signposted Woolwich & Ferry) and turn right at the traffic lights towards Woolwich/Charlton.

Car parking

Parking at The Valley is for permit holders only, while a local residents parking scheme will prevent you from leaving your vehicle within the vicinity of the stadium. However, street parking is available on your right just before the Rose of Denmark pub as you come off the A2 onto the A206.

By train

The Valley is a short walk from Charlton Railway Station, which is served by trains from Charing Cross, London Bridge and Waterloo East.

The journey from Swansea takes just over four hours.

Pubs for away fans

Around a 15-minute walk from The Valley, the Angerstein Hotel welcomes away supporters, as does the Anchor & Hope pub.

Alternatively, if you are travelling by train, there are many pubs that you can try in Blackheath or London Bridge including the Hare & Billet in the former, which is listed in the CAMRA Good Beer Guide.

Hotels

There are a wide range of nearby hotels to choose from.

The Angerstein Hotel is within a mile of The Valley, while you could also try the Holiday Inn Express London Greenwich or London City Airport Hotel.

Meanwhile, there are a couple of Premier Inn, Novotel and ibis chains within two miles of the ground, as well as Holiday Inn Express.
